El Yunque Rainforest Walking Excursion

Splashing falls, scenic views and extensive flora and fauna are just some of the highlights you will experience while visiting El Yunque Rain Forest. Spanning 29,000 acres with its highest peak reaching over 3,500 ft. over sea level the El Yunque, formerly known as the Caribbean National Forest, is the only tropical rainforest in the U.S. Forest System. Originally set aside in 1876 by the Spanish Crown, the Forest represents one of the oldest reserves in the Western Hemisphere. With over 240 species (26 species are found nowhere else) of trees and plants. The Forest contains rare wildlife including such as the Puerto Rican Parrot, which is one of the ten most endangered species of birds in the world. El Yunque is the rainiest of all the National Forests with up to 240 inches per year. This guided tour includes two stops before a scenic and low impact walk on Caimitillo Trail which is full of the natural beauty, flora and fauna, some indigenous to the island.

Explore the charm and sophistication of the blue cobblestones streets in Old San Juan, filled with a history lesson at every corner. Founded in 1521, Old San Juan is the oldest city under U.S. Jurisdiction and is one of the biggest natural harbors in the Caribbean. Designated a UNESCO World Heritage Site you can still walk along the 500-year-old wall that once surrounded the entire city. Historical forts, museums and picturesque plazas found throughout the city tell the story of a rich culture. Knowledgeable tour guides will lead you on a 90-minute historical walking tour. You will have the opportunity to leisurely tour the city for additional sightseeing and one of a kind shopping. Old San Juan offers unique shopping opportunities that include lovely souvenir shops, local artisan stands, designer outlet stores and fine jewelry. You may also choose to enjoy lunch at one of the many restaurants.
